

COLUMBIA MISSOURIAN

#MIZWhereRU? MU alumni share where they ended up post-graduation

By Shaina Cavazos

October 28, 2013 | 5:08 p.m. CDT

COLUMBIA — As part of our MU Homecoming coverage, we thought it would be fun to see where some MU alumni have ended up.

Using the hashtag "#MIZWhereRU" on Twitter and some good, old-fashioned legwork before the Homecoming football game, we collected 78 responses that included locations. (See the complete responses, in tweets and photos, here.)

We used our Twitter and in-person responses to create a map using Google Fusion Tables. The points on the map are accurate to city and state. To make sure all of the data points could be seen, we had to tweak the coordinates of responses that used the same city, so you probably won't have much luck finding someone in your exact neighborhood.

The map allows to you scroll and zoom in and out like other Google-powered maps. Zooming in on specific areas will reveal more points.

Chanelle Koehn contributed to this project.

Supervising editor is Joy Mayer.

MoreStory
<hr/> <hr/>
Related Articles
Fans react on social media to Missouri Homecoming game loss
Missouri football fans try to set new standard for South Carolina game
MU alumni, Columbia community come out for Homecoming Parade
Homecoming 2013: Photos of MU students and alumni
What you need to know for MU's Homecoming

Missouri football wants to win for 'the whole state'

Schedule of events for MU's Homecoming